

“It’s especially nice to get one for Benno, he’s supported me a bit with rides here and there and I’ve been trying to get in there and work a bit harder with him at the stables.”
The win was Brave Legend’s first at start three in Hong Kong.

“He did it nicely in the end,” Chadwick said after the bay had stopped the clock at 1m 10.26s. “He was very green; I hoped he would jump a bit sharper than he did, he just didn’t travel too well early on. He swung a bit wider than I wanted on the home turn but I let him be and he was happy enough.

Today he’s won on ability, so we’ll see how he goes on. I’d hope he’s got more improvement.”
